REED SAYS REAL
LAW QUIZ
WILL SHOCK U. S.

Challenges Hoover
Let Light Shine.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
Mr. Reed, retired U. S. senator from Missouri, last night, addressed himself again to the phenomena of prohibition as outlined in a press conference to follow. In his senatorial phrases it is, the inquiry is "a real search for the apical truth and not a trumpet blare."

He is on the agenda. Mr. Reed suggests inquiry into "smelling hypotheses" in the legislative halls, a role among lawmakers who "vote at the crack of the whip and drown it out with a drink."

Foto: Chicago Tribune.

Today, too, the Missourian places his name on the calendar of the inquiry. His suggestion is that the seek for things as they are put under the microscope some judges who give themselves and moonshiners the limit of personal, but have a personal vendetta in a quart in the home pantry and a cup before dinner.

Mr. Reed paused in Chicago on his way to Kansas City yesterday. He has had a private citizen since Monday, but is still regarded as an outstanding leader in the battle for moderation of Volsteadism in what he sees as the interest of temperance and temperance of the old thunderer of Congress in the Congress hotel last month when Reed and his wife were guests.

Two giants of the senate, the two most prominent in the legislative halls, the two most prominent in the senate, do not have a chance to get the real story out. The minute they start shooting, every turkey and duck a hundred miles would take to the proper organized under honor and decent men, to ascertain the fact that, and no arrests to be made, and no one to be given, the gentle men to report what they have found, the country would be as

To make a real investigation would necessitate that these people would be given decent methods the fact is, no one is given a decent method to use in our people active in the life of the community at which liquor is not to be given.

It would include ascertaining the fact that one can go to a telephone and a case delivered. Also the fact in little gatherings of decent people in houses, where formerly there was little or no drinking, it is quite

Now Mansions to Cottages.

They answer that this is "high life," the custom of the aristocracy. All that, but in the houses of working people they are making home brew and wine than ever before. The people could go into country houses and find that country boys where to go to get supplies for moonshine. And there's the fact in offices these days, where it used to be seen.

The inquiry can disclose that beer has been spiked with ether. A small amount of ether will go into the liquor when many who are voting dry laws, habitually get steamed on liquor. They needn't stop about Washington. Then, too, the investigation could find many judges who are a bit, but give prohibition violators the limit in penalties.

FIND EVIDENCES OF WHOOPEE IN SANITARY BILLS

Women and Whisky Appear in Inquiry.

Wine, women and whisky seemed to be the pleasure of some of the sanitary district pay rollers at the expense of the taxpayers public under the regime of Timothy J. Crowe as president of the district. If notations on bills for automobile service are a correct indication of where the money went. The unusual expenses of some of the trustees at least were discovered by Assistant State's Attorneys Thomas H. Slusser, Otto Fasig, and George Callahan yesterday when they raided and seized the records of the Central Auto Service company, 1452 North Clark street.

Whoopee seemed to be a custom of the trustees when they wanted taxicab riding at the expense of the public, according to the notations, which mentioned such items as wine, whisky, ginger ale, women, vanity cases and powder.

INVESTIGATION.

These revelations came at a time when the prosecutors were before the grand jury seeking an indictment for pay roll padding. An indictment against a former district pay roller is expected by Monday or Tuesday.

The items found among the auto service company records caused the prosecutors to send out subpoenae veroe at once in search of S. Saracino, head of the company. He will be asked to explain the meaning of the notations on the duplicates of bills sent to the district for automobile service.

Checks for $1,000 made out in the name of T. J. Crowe and bearing his endorsement were other things found among the records of the company. Why the automobile company, which received more than $70,000 in 1928 for service to the sanitary district, should pay such sums to Crowe, then president of the district, is a question the prosecutors would like to have answered.

Trace Dealings with Bank.

Dealing between the First National bank of Oak Park and the automobile company, as shown by the seized documents, will also be investigated. Crowe is an official of this bank. The automobile company apparently discounted some of its bills against the district through the bank.

The first item to attract the attention of Prosecutor Fasig was the frequent use of Lincoln automobiles by Miss Bertha C. Moller, an attorney for the district under the Crowe regime. The notations and record cards of the chauffeurs showed that automobile frequently called for her at her suite at the Belmont hotel at 4:45 hours. She is now living in a suite at the Drake hotel. Detectives last night had a subpoena for her.

Four Day Auto. $3,200.

Discoveries came fast as Prosecutors Fasig, Callahan and Slusser thumbed over the papers and records gathered up in the automobile company headquarters. The checks, to Crowe appeared and then an item for a four day automobile tour at a cost of $2,200. Among other notations were the following:

One case of whisky, $50.

Vanity case and powder, $5.

Ginger ale, $5.

Five women, $15.

"I do not know what these peculiar notations mean," said one of the investigators, "but it seems as if the public was paying for the parties. It would appear that everything was charged to the automobile company and that the district would then just be billed for plain automobile service, repairs, gasoline, or some other legitimate automobile accessory."

SEARCH RECORDS AFTER 11 HOURS.

Bay City, Mich., March 8.—The endurance airplane flight of Eddie Stinson and Randolph G. Page ended after approximately eleven hours of flight, tonight when they landed on the ice of Saginaw bay at 8:50 o'clock.

Heavy snow and a strong wind forced the landing. Stinson was one of the first to land.

HOOVER BOARD TO TAKE UP ANARCHY OF VOLSTEAD ERA

Booze Wars in Its Scope, President Says.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Chicago Tribune-Free Service.]
Washington, D. C., March 8.—[Special.]—The wars of the bootleggers in Chicago and other large cities, the reigns of terror produced by alien gunmen and other anarchic conditions resulting from prohibition will come within the scope of the law enforcement investigation by the national commission President Hoover is soon to establish.

This was made clear today when Mr. Hoover, in response to questions of correspondents at the White House press conference, outlined the investigation which is to be the first major undertaking of his administration.

Scope of Commission.

"The purpose and scope of the law enforcement commission, as stated in my inaugural address," Mr. Hoover said, "is to critically consider the entire machinery of justice, the administration of its functions, the consideration of its procedure, the provision of additional special tribunals, the better selection of jurists, the more effective organization of our agencies of investigation and processions.

It is intended to cover the entire system of law enforcement and organization of justice. It will also naturally include consideration of the method of enforcement of the 18th amendment and abuses which have sprung up together with the enforcement of the laws in respect to immigration, to trade relations and even the branch of law enforcement law enforcement.

The whole constitutes one problem of better and more effective organization and enforcement. Such reorganization in various directions, some of them affecting the civil side as well as the criminal side, have been recommended and advocated for years by men of responsibility, from the other justices of the United States down to the local bar associations.

The first step in law enforcement is adequate organization of our judicial and enforcement system."

Cabinet on Water Wagon.

Notable progress was evidenced in the undertaking of President Hoover to put prohibition America on the water wagon.

Appropriately enough the President has made a beginning with offices in Washington or rather the heart of Washington—his cabinet.

There is now tangible evidence of co-operation with the ukase that no member of the Hoover cabinet shall consort with the demon rum.

Whether the head enforcer of prohibition, Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon, has been converted is still in doubt. The latest reports received on this head were that Mr. Mellon was still dispensing at his dinners the product of his Overholt whisky distillery, which made invitations to his board more eagerly sought than a bid to the White House.

FIND VET KILLED WIFE AND SELF WHILE INSANE MISSING ON LAKE

Temporary insanity caused Anton Kosar, 32 years old, shell shocked world war veteran, to beat his wife, Anna, to death and then kill himself with poison. It was decided yesterday by a Du Page county coroner's jury at the Hinckley village hall.

Neighbors found the couple dying in the bedroom of their little cottage at Hinckley. Anton Jr., five year old son, had run screaming into the water. He saw his father lying on the floor and knew his mother down as she was supposed supper. The four months' old baby of the family slept undisturbed through the tragedy.

Policeman Leo Dwyer of Hinckley testified he hurried to the Kosar home upon being notified by the neighbors and that Chief E. G. Mitchell was sent there. News of the tragedy, for some unexplained reason, was not made public by Chief Mitchell until yesterday morning although the murderer and suicide occurred at 5:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—(UPI)—With two-thirds of the precincts reported, Mayor Victor W. Miller had a commanding lead over Henry W. Kiel, three times mayor, in the Republican race for the nomination. Miller led 55,387 to 49,266, in 440 out of 676 precincts. At one time Kiel was ahead 1,500 votes.

CONTINUE SEARCH FOR 3 PERSONS MISSING ON LAKE

Despite storm warnings issued to navigators on Lake Michigan by the weather bureau yesterday, five coast guard crews continued their search for the small launch containing two Wisconsin men and a woman, lost on the lake since Wednesday.

The three persons missing are Nels Jensen, 30 years old, Waukegan fisherman, his wife Anna, 21 years old, and his brother, Charles, 21 years old.

Neighbors found the couple dying in the bedroom of their little cottage at Hinckley. Anton Jr., five year old son, had run screaming into the water. TAX VALUATION WILL EQUAL 40% OF MARKET PRICE

Harry S. Cutmore, director of tax revaluation operations, said yesterday that the board of assessors is preparing an official announcement that the new assessment evaluation will equal forty per cent of the market value of property. This percentage, under the old assessment, with its many inequalities, ranged from less than one to more than one hundred.

"Determining the fair market value of your property," Mr. Cutmore said, "is as simple as multiplying by 2 per cent, and you will have an estimate of your 1928 tax bill. This multiplying by 2 per cent is the equivalent of applying the forty per cent and then the tax rate of $5 for $100 valuation. You may compare the results with your old tax bills."

Complete Work by April 1.

The appraisers are making a scientific survey of Cook county's 1,300,000 pieces of realty and 750,000 buildings. The work started on Nov. 1, is now three-fourths finished and will be completed by April 1.

Mr. Cutmore said his field workers have discovered a few pieces of realty that were never included on any of the plots used by the assessors in the past.

They have also discovered buildings and structures not on sites that have been listed as vacant.

They have also found property vacant. They have also found property listed as exempt from taxes that has returned to private ownership. He directed to queen the value in revenue from taxes on these discoveries.

No Tax on Ornaments.

A policy important to the community from a scientific viewpoint was an-announced by Mr. Cutmore.

He said owners of buildings will not be taxed on features purely ornamental and not utilitarian.

"A beautiful steeple, such as on the Temple building, or flying buttresses, such as on the Tribune Tower, represents investments of considerable sums by the owners," said Mr. Cutmore.

"But they are investments for public rather than private benefit and therefore, by applying common sense, we are not placing a tax on the ornaments.

Reward to Builder.

"The same rule is being followed on small buildings, apartments, and private dwellings.

Private investment has the sole value of improving the appearance of the city we are rewarding the investor in his tax bill. To do otherwise would be to place the command "hands up."

PLYMOUTH ROCK COCK WINS FINISH FIGHT WITH EAGLE OF 6-FT. WINGS

Sarasota, Fla., March 8.—(AP)—Ed Zwilling, a dairyman near here, brought to Sarasota today a story of a finish fight between a six months old Plymouth Rock rooster and an eagle in which the cock came out winner. He exhibited the wounded rooster in a cage of the table. He and his wife heard a commotion in the barnyard, he said, and distinguishing a whirling mass of feathered bodies, went to investigate just as both combatants collapsed.

The eagle, measuring six feet one inch from wing tip to wing tip, was dead. The rooster was badly hurt.

A local taxidermist, to whom the eagle carcass was brought for mounting, expressed the belief that the rooster delivered a chance blow in a vulnerable spot just as the eagle swooped down.

A bounty on ugly and cheap construction.

Outside of this consideration for the beautification of the city and county, the appraisers are applying an inflexible yardstick to land and improvements in the city and county. Nearing completion is a permanent record describing in detail each piece of property. This record, the first of its kind ever used by the taxing bodies, will be available for substantiating assessments when the owners appeal to the board of review or to the courts, thus blocking out any tax review board as well as tax litigation.

HOLD FOUR MEN CHARGED WITH BANK ROBBERY

Four men accused of robbing the Congress Park bank for $1,000 last January were held to the grand jury by Judge Grether in Brookfield last night at a special court session. William Cushing, 26 years old, of Mattoon, Ill., was held in bonds of $75,000, while the bonds of the remaining three were fixed at $50,000 each. The three are Norman Ruffo, 20 years old, also of Mattoon; Walter George, 29 years old of Detroit, and T. N. Toler, 27 years old, of St. Louis.

The men were held by police to have come from the Congress Park robbery and the $10,000 holdup of the Danforth Banking company of Washington, Ill., last December.

Three Bandits Rob Jewelry Store; Injure Proprietor

Jewelry valued at between $3,000 and $5,000 was stolen from the Marshall Square Jewelry store, 2879 West 22d street, last night by three armed men, who injured the owner of the store and terrorized two customers. The proprietor, Alvin Kahn, was struck over the head with a revolver when he was slow to respond to the command "hands up." The bandits escaped in an automobile.

REED SAYS REAL DRY LAW INQUEST WILL APPALL U. S.

Calls on Hoover to Turn Light on Prohibition.

selling a drink or whisky and who will buy one himself is a canting-contemptible coward. I hold in contempt the creature who, to keep his place in congress or a state legislature, votes to make a felon of others for doing that which which he practices himself."

Revising the Jail Argument.

Mr. Reed turned to the old Anti-Saloon league argument that prohibition would close the jails for lack of prisoners.

"Figures presented in the senate in a speech eulogizing prohibition," he said, "set forth that in 1928 there were 75,000 arrests in the federal courts and 55,000 prison sentences. This we were told was the glory of prohibition. Let me assure you the publishing stop and think. If the figures have shown the old saloon in a single year had sent 55,000 human beings to jail and had caused the arrest of 75,000 human beings, they would have had a stronger case than was ever proved against the old saloon, had as it was."

"In two short years 125,000 to 150,000 have been jailed. Let them answer whether a law which does a thing like that to men who have only responded to an appetite ingrates in man from the first is not what I have demanded it to be. It is its logical result."

"Few boys and impoverished mothers are sentenced to hard labor until death. For what? Because on the testimony of a sneak and an informer they were convicted of having for the third or fourth time been caught with a little liquor in their possession, or of selling a drink to some one who desired to buy it."

Temperance vs. Prohibition.

"Who has heard an old fashioned temperance lecture since the Volstead act was passed? Instead we have heard demands for enforcement of the law and for more penalties. In the old days temperance forces were all engaged in saving the drunkard. But the modern professional prohibitionists no longer sing: 'Rescue the per-

MUNICIPAL JUDGES FIGHT BILL CREATING NEW SPECIAL COURT

Chicago Municipal Judges, in session in Chief Justice Harry Olson's office yesterday, unanimously denounced the Gilbert-Barbour bill, now before the legislature, which calls for the establishment of a separate Municipal court for Chicago which would hear only criminal cases. Passage of the bill would result in shaving away much of the jurisdiction of the present city courts, the judges pointed out.

The judges also announced that they will introduce a bill of their own at Springfield which, instead of reducing their present jurisdiction, would increase them. This bill would confer upon Municipal judges the power of sentencing defendants who plead guilty to only some state offenses except murder, manslaughter, rape, and kidnaping.

The present clogged dockets of the Criminal courts make such a change essential, Judge Edgar A. Jonas argued. He said thousands of cases now drag along for months which might be settled in a few minutes in the Municipal courts.

Assaults Spying System.

"These are all matters to be ascertained if a real investigation is made. Then, too, the fact has to be established that the law has to be enforced by a class of underworld men. A spy is unquestionably the lowest form of animal life. What keeps men decent but a sense of honor? Dorothy the wife and man secures devoid of respect for law or the rights of others. What wonder that the written record of the prohibition unit discloses an alarming story of rascality."

"A real inquiry would show the fact that the law has apparently transformed the kindly sentiments and humanitarian services of the old time temperance worker into a spirit of persecution. Force is substituted for reason, penalties for persuasion, and cruelties for charity. We have abandoned the Bible, the prayer book, and the temperance tract for the lash, the prison, the gun, and the bludgeon."

MRS. SABIN OUT OF G. O. P. BODY; FIGHTS DRY LAW

New York Member Quits Committee.

(Picture on back page.)

New York, March 8.—[Special.]

Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, wife of the chairman of the Guaranty Trust company, resigned today as member of the Republican national committee.

Her letter giving notice of her retirement went to Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the national committee, in Washington and gave no specific reason for her action further than that she had served ten years and it was time for another to take the work.

Mrs. Sabin has been a leader in the Republican organization since the women were given the ballot eleven years ago, and her resignation came as a surprise to the party workers in New York.

Long Opposed Dry Law.

It is no secret that Mrs. Sabin has never been in sympathy with national prohibition. She has not been in accord with her party's policy in relation to that subject and she like many other wet Republicans may have found it impossible to reconcile her views with the ultra-dry stand of the new administration.

Women who are opposed to prohibition have been agitating for a long time for a national amendment representing their opinions, regardless of political beliefs, and it would not be surprising if in time Mrs. Sabin is found leading that cause. She has been outspoken for temperance in her declarations, regardless of the altitude of her party, that prohibition by government edict could never accomplish the end sought. Evidently she felt she could not remain as the official head of the women of her state and maintain her honest conviction on this important subject.

Elected First in 1924.

Mrs. Sabin was elected to the national committee in 1924 at Cleveland and reflected in Kansas City last June. She headed the women's committee of this state in the Harding, Coolidge and Hoover campaigns, was vice chairman of the Wadsworth senatorial campaign in 1920 and 1926 and has been the leader in the state campaigns since women began to vote.

DRYS RUSTLE PET MEASURE PAST MICHIGAN HOUSE

Aimed to Keep "Life for Pint" Penalty.

Lansing, Mich., March 8.—[Special.]

By one of the political tricks for which Anti-Saloon league forces have become famous, the dry lobby today pointed out of the red-tinted division of dry and liberal sentiment in the house. Most of the Wayne County [Detroit] delegation was absent, not suspecting the surprise move for a pint law.

The bill was unexpectedly called up on third reading and hurried to passage by a vote of 60 to 10, barely representing the pointed out of the red-tinted division of dry and liberal sentiment in the house. Most of the Wayne County [Detroit] delegation was absent, not suspecting the surprise move for a pint law.

In the form in which it was passed, the Cuthbertson bill provides a five year maximum penalty for a first offense against the state prohibition law. This provision will place bootleggers in the life sentence classification of the habitual criminal act, even though it is amended to suit Gov. Fred Green.

Representative Vincent P. Dacey of Detroit had planned to launch another fight on this provision when the bill was brought up on third reading. But it was taken unawares and was quite a surprise to the dry forces.

Liberal forces are expected to concentrate on the senate in an effort not only to block the Cuthbertson bill but to secure the safe enactment of the administration bill which modifies the criminal code's life sentence provision.

Three Evanston policemen yesterday divided the $100 monthly award for meritorious service established by Mrs. James A. Patten, widow of the wheat king. Policeman William Johnson, 2100 North Paulina, was awarded $50; John J. O'Farrell, 14 years old, colored, who admitted having annoyed several Evanston women, and for preventing the suicide of a young woman; Detective Ernest Otto and Policeman Louis Jantho each was given $25. Otto for his part in the Drift arrest and Jantho for aiding in the rescue of the would-be suicide.

It was announced in Washington yesterday. No word of the transfer had reached the naval station last night, officials there said.

Dog Delays Rescuers When His Master Is Hurt by Fall

While washing the windows of his second story flat at 5007 North Hermingway avenue yesterday, Joseph Balogh, 50 years old, lost his hold and plunged to the sidewalk. At the Alexian Brothers' hospital it was said his condition was not serious. Balogh's trip to the hospital was delayed several minutes when his dog stayed close to his master's unconscious body and refused to let any one approach.

REED SAYS REAL DRY LAW INQUEST WILL APPALL U. S.

Calls on Hoover to Turn Light on Prohibition.

Mr. Reed turned to the old Anti-Saloon league argument that prohibition would close the jails for lack of prisoners.

"Figures presented in the senate in a speech eulogizing prohibition," he said, "set forth that in 1928 there were 75,000 arrests in the federal courts and 55,000 prison sentences. This we were told was the glory of prohibition. Let me assure you the publishing stop and think. If the figures have shown the old saloon in a single year had sent 55,000 human beings to jail and had caused the arrest of 75,000 human beings, they would have had a stronger case than was ever proved against the old saloon, had as it was."

"In two short years 125,000 to 150,000 have been jailed. Let them answer whether a law which does a thing like that to men who have only responded to an appetite ingrates in man from the first is not what I have demanded it to be. It is its logical result."

Assaults Spying System.

"These are all matters to be ascertained if a real investigation is made. Then, too, the fact has to be established that the law has to be enforced by a class of underworld men. A spy is unquestionably the lowest form of animal life. What keeps men decent but a sense of honor? Dorothy the wife and man secures devoid of respect for law or the rights of others. What wonder that the written record of the prohibition unit discloses an alarming story of rascality."

"A real inquiry would show the fact that the law has apparently transformed the kindly sentiments and humanitarian services of the old time temperance worker into a spirit of persecution. Force is substituted for reason, penalties for persuasion, and cruelties for charity. We have abandoned the Bible, the prayer book, and the temperance tract for the lash, the prison, the gun, and the bludgeon."

VATICAN DROPS PLAN FOR BAN ON LAY ROTARIANS

Catholic Organs to Print
Sutton's Views.

ROME, March 8.—[U. P.]—The Vatican's fight against Rotary International can be considered as ended with the news that lay Rotarians lifted, it was made known today.

The clergy merely will receive a mild admonition to maintain the ecclesiastical dignity in connection with the ending of recent attacks on the organization by the Vatican organ, Observationes Romanae.

The Holy See will not issue a communiqué on the question, but articles of Sutton's defense will be published in various Catholic semi-official organs, stating that Rotary is not interfering with the principles of the Catholic religion.

The Holy See had not officially condemned Rotary, but many condemnatory articles appeared in semi-official organs and the consistorial congregations warned priests against attending rotary luncheons in order not to compromise the ecclesiastical status.

Sutton's statement was consigned to Father Enrico Rossi, Jesuit director of the Civita Catholic, monthly Catholic magazine.

"The Catholic church really never condemned Rotary," said Father Rossi in an interview today. "But it had Masonic tendencies and therefore wanted to be perfectly sure it was not anti-church. The church has its own moral and scriptural code and looks circumspectly on codes which are devised by others. Therefore it desired to learn about the Rotary code. Mr. Sutton is a good Catholic."

LEAGUE ASKS U.S. TO HELP LOCK OUT WAR WITH GOLD

Plans Financial Aid for Attacked Nations.

BY ROBERT SAGE.

[Chicago Tribune Free Service.]
GENEVA, March 8.—The campaign to put an extra lock on the door against the war lord Mars by backing up paper agreements with solid gold was welcomed by the council of the league of nations this morning. It approved a draft of the convention which embraces the original Finnish plan and provides that the league shall furnish immediate financial aid to any state which is the victim of aggression.

The plan, which is based on the theory that money talks, is a case of peace as well as a case of business, aimed at limiting armaments through the increased security offered many nations. Not only will it be offered to all league members, but the United States and other nonmembers will receive a copy.

Gives Feeling of Security.

The French foreign minister, Aristide Briand, supported by Sir Austin Chamberlain, minister of foreign affairs for Great Britain, and Mr. Procopio, Spanish foreign minister, urged that the scheme is too important to be confined merely to league adherents. The American and other governments will be required to think over the plan of enforcing peace by means of gold and express an opinion in September, when the assembly of the league takes final action on the proposed treaty.

"A country meditating an attack on another would more than ever hesitate to carry it out if there was the risk that this other state might receive financial assistance from the league," Agustine de Betancourt, Cuban representative, who read the report, pointed out.

"The idea on which this draft is based is that guaranteeing states offer to each other the possibility of securing rapid, effective financial assistance in case of war or a threat of war. This should induce materially the various nations to limit armaments, or even refrain from creating war industries. Moreover, the possibility of setting in motion machinery for financial assistance would considerably increase the choice of measures open to the council in case of a crisis."

League to Have "War Fund."

The convention provides that a unanimous vote of the council is necessary in order that assistance be granted a state which considers itself the victim of aggression or threatened aggression. The convention would run for a period of ten years, with the possibility of renewal for further periods.

In order that funds may be immediately available to a besieged nation the convention provides for a special League fund. In addition to arrangements for loans, the stronger signatories of the body.

The league fund would be raised by having the various members contribute fixed amounts, which would total a maximum of about $4,000,000 in the event that all members become signatories of the convention.

Dismiss Two Accused of Attacking 17 Year Old Girl

Nonappearance of the complaining witness caused the dismissal of rape charges against Charles Cohen, 21 years old, living at the McCormick hotel, and Henry Hobbs, 27 years old, 6356 University avenue, when the men were arraigned in Justice Estate A. Jones yesterday. The defendants were accused of having attacked a 17 year old Hammond girl while she was on a visit here.

JOHN J. NOLAN IS GIVEN DIVORCE
DENIED TO WIFE

Mrs. Josephine Nolan, 1461 North Lotus avenue, yesterday lost her long fight for the custody of her children and a divorce from her husband, John J. Nolan, whom she describes as a wealthy bootlegger. Superior Judge James Baldwin denied her a decree and awarded one to Nolan.

The Nolan's were married in 1914 and separated in July, 1927. They have four children: Marcella, 14 years old; Jocelyn, 11; Charlotte, 10; and John, 9. Mrs. Nolan charged cruelty and Nolan accused her of infidelity.

The jury in a previous trial before Superior Judge Dennis E. Sullivan found for Nolan, giving her custody, but failed to award either a decree.

Judge Baldwin ordered the establishment of a $75,000 trust fund to maintain the children at school, and gave the parents permission to visit them frequently. Mrs. Nolan collapsed when the order was read.

were scrutinized a new subpoena was issued for him and also for Miss Moller.

Saracino, it was said, will be asked to explain whether the trustees and district employees usually used the moonlight instead of the daylight to make inspection trips of the district properties.

The chauffeur records show cars checking out at such hours at 9 o'clock at night and returning at 4 and 5 o'clock in the morning.

Attorney Quined by Jury.

The pay roll padding expert came when Attorney J. M. Laventhal, with offices at 111 West Monroe street, was called before the grand jury. Laventhal, formerly on the district pay rolls, is said to have declared that he received only one of a series of pay checks issued in his name. In this connection Isaac Doff, once a Democratic candidate for nomination for sanitary district trustee and at an earlier time assistant chief bailiff of the Municipal court, is alleged to be missing. He took with him $51,000, which he drew from his bank. He is a ward committeeman of the 25th ward until the last election.

Attorney Laventhal is reported to have told the jurors that Doff, whose most recent position was an investigator for the law department of the district, had him placed on the pay roll. Doff took Laventhal to T. J.

Crowe, former president of the district, and the latter assigned him to work at a salary of $200.00 every two weeks, according to the prosecutors.

"I received my first pay check," Laventhal is reported to have said.

"After that I did not seem to have any work assigned to me and I just figured I was through work. I never received any more checks after the first one and paid no more attention to the job."

The investigators found, they said, that Laventhal's name was carried on the roll for five or six months, and that his name was forged to the checks and they were cashed. The writing appears similar to the indorsements on the pay checks issued to Doff, according to Prosecutor Slusher.

Find Doff Is Abused.

Doff's salary seemed not to be any fixed sum, according to the checks discovered by the prosecutors. His checks, issued at irregular periods, were for amounts ranging from $250 down to $150, they said.

Detectives Wentzel and Sobel were sent to Doff's home, 1706 Humboldt boulevard. They found the house vacant. Inquiry among the neighbors brought the information that Doff and his wife were supposed to have started on a trip to California.

Prosecutor Fahey started to trace Doff's bank account. He found that Doff banked at the State Bank of Chicago. Some of his pay checks showed that Doff was dealing in real estate securities, according to the notations made thereon. The bank officials informed the prosecutor, it is said, that Doff cashed in all his securities on Monday morning, and departed with the $51,000.

WATSON PREDICTS FARM RELIEF AT SPECIAL SESSION

Senator James B. Watson, of Illi-inois, held yesterday that the special session of congress which starts April 18 will last until Sept. 1, and that it will be productive of constructive measures for agricultural relief.

Tariff revision will move along with farm relief. Manufacturers and business men are already preparing for nego-iations.

"It is recognized that there must be a tariff revision on commodities pertaining to agriculture," said Senator Watson. "The house began hearings Jan. 10 and has heard 1,100 witnesses, and by April 20 a bill is expected to be ready for introduction.

Congress will try to work in conformation with the President's wish for a "limited revision," but this is a difficult task. Most members are hoping for the best and expecting the worst.

When the bill gets to the senate side

there will be the usual hearings."

URGES DOCTORS TO ORGANIZE ON ECONOMIC BASIS

An archaic code of ethics governing the practice of medicine was blamed last night for the wanlike prestige of the general practitioner by Dr. Norman Zolla, who spoke at a meeting of the south side branch of the Chicago Medical society at the Streetcar hospital, 2845 Calumet avenue. Dr. Zolla is a leader of the group of physicians who recently organized the society's Jackson Park branch as a protest against clinics in the Albert Billings Memorial hospital.

"Public health institutions, clinics in large universities and paternalism in city health departments are putting the medical profession into a wholesale production basis," Dr. Zolla said.

"If we are to keep ourselves out of the class of mechanics, we must organize against the menace of institutionalism which is threatening our existence as professional individuals. And our code of ethics forbids us to organize in economic groups."

RUMORS OF HIGH OFFICIALS TO GO STIR CAPITAL

Shakeup Is Hinted in "Little Cabinet."

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Free Service) Washington, D. C., March 8.—(Special)—President Hoover, in building his administration personnel, will adhere to the principle of retaining "as many as possible of those public servants who have given honest and zealous service." It was announced today in response to a question at the President's second press conference.

While not more than twenty or thirty changes are contemplated at this time, there may come in circles that will agitate official and social Washington. It became known today that the President told members of his cabinet at their first formal meeting that he had asked for the resignations of all presidential appointees that had not already been handed in. This was whispered in army and navy circles and led to the question as to whether the President was looking for the resignations of some special member of the "little cabinet." The order applies only to the major government posts.

Hoover Explains Policy.

In explaining his patronage policy Mr. Hoover said:

"It is traditional for the principal directing heads of the government whose appointments are at the pleasure of the President, both at home and in foreign service, to tender their resignations with the advent of a new president. Out of several hundred such officials, there are probably not more than 20 or 30 changes likely to made at the present time. Some of these are the result of the determination of incumbents that they have given sufficient of their time to public service and wish to take this occasion to retire to private life. Some changes will be the result of promotion and shifts from one position in the government to another."

"There are some 820,000 people on the federal pay roll. It will be seen therefore that the number of changes contemplated do not offer an opportunity for the large recruiting of new personnel."

Southern Patronage Up.

The southern patronage situation has been carried to Mr. Hoover by national committeemen from Louisiana,

THREATEN POLICE ACTION TO MOVE TRAIN BLOCKADES

Police powers will be invoked against the Pennsylvania railroad, it was announced yesterday, unless immediate steps are taken to eliminate street blockades caused by stalled trains on the Englewood branch. Under a city ordinance, the police have the power to halt trains at each crossing, according to Ald. Terence F. Moran (11th). He has been trying to obtain relief for traffic in his ward.

Failure of the Pennsylvania to elevate its tracks between Halsted and Robey streets south of 53rd street, provided for in the agreed ordinance of 1912, resulted in the recent agitation of residents in that district for relief.

Alabama, Tennessee, Florida, and Texas within the last two days. The executive committee of the party is inclined to keep hold of it, rather than turn it over to Col. Horace A. Mann. Col. Mann is anxious to build the new party in the south along his own lines, and it is possible to see whether he has the support of his committee.

The first meeting of the new cabinet was held today, all but Henry L. Stimson being in their places in the new chairs bought for them by the predecessors. It is the custom for the outgoing cabinet to buy the chairs which they have occupied at $100 each, and this money is used to replace the furniture.

The meeting today was largely of a routine nature, the only subject of general discussion being Mexico.

Vice President Curtis was in attendance. He has accepted the invitation of the President to sit in. Gen. Dawes refused to do this under Coolidge.

MARY E. INGALS LEAVES $500,000 ESTATE TO KIN

The estate of Mary E. Ingals, daughter of Dr. Ephriam Ingals, pioneer Chicagoan, died yesterday before Edward S. Scheffer, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horn, disposed of an estate valued at $500,000. Miss Ingals died in her Lake Forest home on Jan. 21. She was 71 years old.

The estate is to be divided into four parts by Jesse L. Moss of Lake Forest, the executrix. Two of these parts are left to a sister, Mrs. Lucy Ingals of the Windermere hotel, and another to a nephew, Lester Thomas of Denver. Of the remaining share six-elevenths are left to Miss Phoebe Sweeney, a grandmother, and five-elevenths to her adopted sister, Mary.

The estate originated in Miss Ingals' share of her father's fortune, divided at his death, thirty years ago.

TONIGHT AT THE TRIANON and the ARAGON

Tonight, as every night, except Monday, there's dancing at the Trianon and the Aragon. Young people will be there from every corner of the city . . . dancing to the music of suavely expert orchestras (youthful, peppy!) . . . Boys and girls go to the Trianon and to the Aragon . . . and young married people . . . and oftener than you'd think, the parents of the boys and girls who are our regular patrons. • There's dancing every night till twelve-thirty—except on Saturday nights, when the orchestra plays "Home Sweet Home" at two. Sunday afternoons from three o'clock on there's dancing, too. Matinee prices till seven in the evening. • For those who do not care to devote the whole evening to dancing there are comfortable boxes overlooking the floor—where one may enjoy his dancing vicariously. Fountain specialties and light luncheons are served in the large restaurant or, more conveniently, in the boxes. • The people you'll meet at the Trianon and the Aragon are people you'll like to know . . . neighbors; people who like the things you like; who know the people you know; people who are youthful and glad of their youth. Do come tonight. Dance, and get acquainted.

In HOLLYWOOD, Center of Beauty

Mme. Louise Zollars

of the well-known Gainsborough Beauty Shoppe recommends this treatment for skin beauty

"I agree with Lina Cavalieri and other celebrated European beauty specialists that Palmolive Soap should be used twice a day as the perfect home beauty treatment."

Mme Louise Zollars
GAINSBOROUGH BEAUTY SHOPPE

Zollars, well known head of the Gainsborough Beauty Shoppe, in Hollywood.

"To all these stars, among whom are Phyllis Haver, Virginia Pearson, Virginia Lee Corbin, Vera Reynolds, Anita Stewart and Priscilla Dean, as well as to my distinguished patrons of the society world, I recommend the regular use of Palmolive Soap," Mme. Zollars says. "I agree with Lina Cavalieri and other European beauty specialists that Palmolive Soap should be used twice a day as the perfect home beauty treatment. Its ingredients, palm oils and olive oils, are harmless to the most delicate skin. These oils gradually penetrate the pores and free the skin of collected impurities."

In these words Mme. Zollars expresses why the most famous of international beauty experts prefer Palmolive Soap; why America's leading specialists, in every city from coast to coast, recommend this treatment to all their smart patrons.

Hollywood learns this fact not only from Mme. Zollars but also from Hepner, the celebrated "Jim" and dozens of its other great beauty experts.

"Every day—in the Gainsborough Beauty Shoppe—can be seen America's famous faces—the lovely faces of moving picture stars known the world over. To this shop—for their beauty treatments—come at least a third of the outstanding stars of the screen," says Mme. Louise

HOSPITAL ESCAPE QUIZ IS OPENED BY U.S. ATTORNEY

Grand Jury May Probe Salkin Case.

District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson yesterday began an investigation of the escape of Benjamin Salkin, robber, safecracker, and murderer, who walked out of the county psychopathic hospital Tuesday morning. The federal grand jury will probably look into the circumstances, it was indicated.

The district attorney was concerned with a report that a $25,000 defense fund had been raised by friends of Salkin. The department of justice had another report that the criminal a year ago had spent $1,000 in arranging his escape from the Folsom penitentiary in California, where he had served eight years of a twenty-five year sentence for murder.

Sent for Sanity Test. Salkin was sent to the psychopathic hospital for examination on Feb. 21 on a commitment from United States Commissioner James R. Glass, Assistant District Attorney Eugene A. Tappan protested that the commission lacked this authority.

The request for the mental examination was made by the defense attorney, James O'Gorman, who was questioned from the district attorney's office several months ago. He was opposing Salkin's removal to Indianapolis for trial on a charge of stealing $5,000 postoffice funds from a safe. He faced a life penalty under the habitual criminal act.

"I told Commissioner Glass at the time that Salkin was crazy like a fox."

Criminal Court. Salvatore Giamboni, burglar, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary. John W. Schmitz, 19, greatest child, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge John J. Sullivan.

Edward Earl Schulz, confidence game, sentenced to 1 year in the Bridewell by Judge Harry H. Miller.

Dominick Calabrese, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in Penitentiary; Fred G. Schmitz, burglar, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary by Judge D. J. Norcross.

MASSACRE QUIZ AWAITS CAPONE RETURN TO CITY

Scalisi Held for Hearing on Murder Charges.

Prosecutors who have spent three weeks investigating the Moran gang massacre said yesterday there is little to be done pending the return to Chicago of Alphonse Capone next Tuesday. They succeeded in having John Scalisi, one of Capone's henchmen, held without bail for a hearing on March 18. Scalisi is charged with participating in the seven murders of St. Valentine's day.

Capone, at his estate in Miami, Fla., did not indicate the time of his departure for Chicago or whether he is really coming. But the seal of the United States marshal's office for the district told him that Scalisi would be summoned. Then Sgt. Joe Sullivan, who said he saw Scalisi identified as one of the killers, said he had just and reasonable grounds to believe Scalisi was guilty of murder.

Capone's case was then set for hearing on the same day with that of Jack McGurn and Rocco Fanelli, who also are accused of the seven murders.

Witnesses Go to Grand Jury.

The government's decision to call Capone as a witness—so that he may be questioned about liquor shipments and distribution and payment or non-payment of income taxes—was regarded as an opportunity by Assistant State's Attorneys David Stansbury, Harry S. Ditchburner and Walker Butler to question him about the massacre.

Capone's Joliet Arrest Recalled.

The bureau of investigation said it was recalled that on Capone's return from the west two years ago he alighted from the train at Joliet to avoid meeting Chicago policemen. Joliet detectives were watching him and when he was joined by a group of his protectors they were seized and all were found to be carrying guns. They eventually paid fines of $500 or Deputy Police Commissioner John Stens said he remembered that occasion and he would be on the alert for Capone's arrival but not with the idea of furnishing him with police protection.

Judge Held Scalisi.

When Scalisi was arraigned before Judge Peter H. Schwab on the seven charges of murder, Attorney Thomas D. Nash asked for the complaints which were signed by Bert, Fred Valentia. Reading from the complaints, Nash asked Valentia:

"Have you just and reasonable grounds to believe that Scalisi is guilty of any one of these murders, for instance, that of Dr. Reinhardt Schwimmer?"

"No," replied Valentia.

Attorneys Nash and for the defendant of the complaints, but Judge Peter H. Schwab granted the state a delay until Prosecutor Ditchburner could be summoned. Then Sgt. Joe Sullivan, who said he saw Scalisi identified as one of the killers, said he had just and reasonable grounds to believe Scalisi was guilty of murder.

Scalisi's case was then set for hearing on the same day with that of Jack McGurn and Rocco Fanelli, who also are accused of the seven murders.

Witnesses Go to Grand Jury.

As a matter of precaution the prosecutors taken before the grand jury so their testimony could be taken under oath and a record made of it.

John Malo, owner of the Western Hotel, a famous hangout of Capone in Chicago, was taken to the state's attorney's office, where he was questioned for several hours by Assistant State's Attorney Stansbury.

The prosecutor refused to disclose whether he had obtained any information from the prisoner. Last night Malo was taken to the detective bureau for further questioning.

EGYPT ELECTION RECOUNT MAKES CHICAGO ANGELIC

Average Change in 50th District 200 a Precinct.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Springfield, Ill., March 9.—[Special]

Tentative completion of a recount of the November ballots in thirteen precincts of the fiftieth senatorial district showed an average change from the official count of more than 200 votes a precinct.

"Well," commented a Chicago observer, "I don't believe that the heat of our west side precincts ever did that well. We've had many a recount in Cook county, but I don't recall any one of them that brought out evidence of such sweeping error, if that's what you want to call it."

Chicago May Learn Here.

"Apparently there is something for Chicago to learn from downstate in this field. This district is way down in the south, one of its counties reaching the state, and even remote areas of that state have a tailing influence of Chicago both sides of the border. This recount shows that it must have been worse than anything we ever discovered in our wicked city."

The recount was a dual affair covering a senatorial contest brought by William J. Sneed, senator from the district for eight years, against Senator James H. Feits, both of Marion, and a house contest brought by for

The official returns showed that Feits defeated Sneed by 1,335 votes. The tentative count showed a loss of 1,165 for Feits and a gain of 1,338 for Sneed, making the former senator winner by 1,043 votes.

Representative Bandy ran 8,493 votes ahead of Chesser, according to the official returns. The tentative count shows an average change of 4,000 for Bandy, a net gain of 4,334 for Chesser, which would make him the winner by 1,043.

ADMITS SELLING LIQUOR BLAMED FOR ONE DEATH

Pearl, Ill., March 9.—(AP)—Investigation of the score of poisoned liquor deaths in the Peoria district last week and today brought about the issuance of two or more murder warrants implicating an eleven person in the distribution of the poisoned alcohol.

The new warrants named Herman Wohlfarth, a bootlegger, and Maurice Mansfield, a wholesale liquor distributor who previously had been named in other murder warrants.

Wohlfarth was said to have admitted selling the liquor blamed for the death of Chauncey Robbins, into whose death the coroner conducted an inquest today. Wohlfarth named Mansfield as the man who supplied him with the stuff.

At the same time, prohibition authorities in Chicago learned that chemists had analyzed a bottle of the stuff given them by Mansfield and found that it was 95 per cent pure wood alcohol, similar to the kind used in the manufacture of lacquers.

STEWART KEEPS GRIP ON OIL IN SPITE OF OUSTER

John D.'s Victory Held to Be an Empty One.

The Rockefeller triumph over Robert W. Stewart, ousted chairman of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was characterized in La Salle street yesterday as a grand gesture, but almost barren of any fruits of victory. Although President Ed G. Seubert took charge of the company yesterday, while Col. Stewart hid himself off to Florida for golf and a rest, an analysis of Thursday's actions at the annual stockholders' meeting in Whiting demonstrated that the colonel still maintains an active interest in the business.

Generalship Is Rewarded.
Acute generalship, even in defeat, was rewarded Col. Stewart. It was pointed out, by saving for him many contacts with the business over which for eleven years he was the big boss. Mr. Seubert's secretary denied his claim to interviewers yesterday, but it was stated as his wish that the general should be ended and that the company should continue its business, earning the great profits which made 1928 its greatest year.

The Stewart hold on the company, existing despite the two to one vote of stock shares by which he was deposed from head of the company yesterday, was indicated in the first instance by the continued connection with the company of his two sons. Robert G. Stewart is president of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport company, of which 99 per cent of the stock is owned by Standard of Indiana, and according to official sources, he will remain in that position. His son, James Stewart, is vice-president of the same company, and also expected to remain.

Stephens Remains as Counsel.
Col. Stewart's personal friend, Louis Stephens, was ousted as a director of the Rockefellers, but he remains, as authority of the new board, as general counsel of the company. This is not unusual in the board, and it is generally believed that the advice of Stephens will be sought frequently. Mr. Stephens has been with the Standard company for only a short time, since his appointment to Col. Stewart. Most of the holdover directors, selected by the Rockefellers proxies as voted by Winthrop W. Aldrich, owe their advancement in the company to the recognition of their abilities by Col. Stewart, and their determined support of him against the Rockefellers. Stephens indicated their desire to continue under his aegis. President himself was a leader in Col. Stewart's campaign for reelection.

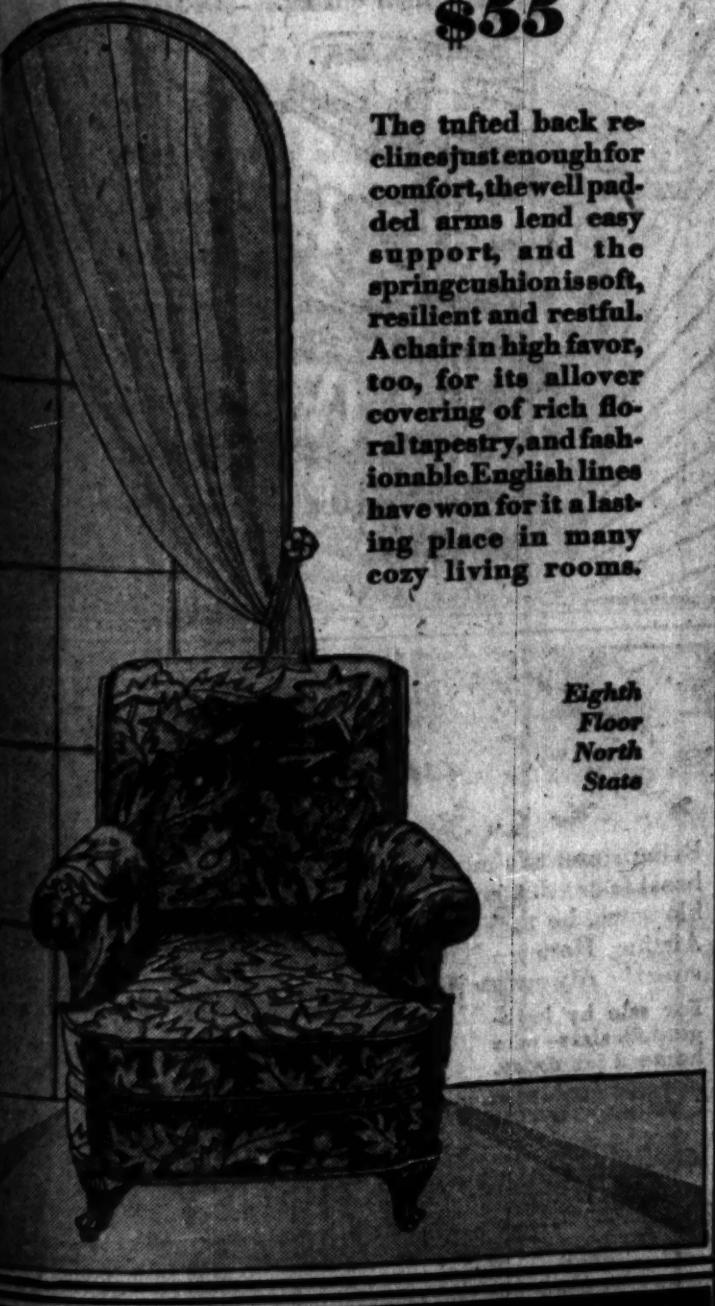

Col. Stewart, according to reliable information at the Standard offices, has indicated an intention of holding on to his Standard Oil stock, some of which he purchased under the employees' stock purchasing plans by which the company paid one-third and the employees two-thirds of the pur-

INDIANA GETS 4 MILLION MORE BY 4 CENT GAS TAX

Indianapolis, Ind., March 8.—[Special]—Scanning ultra tardy acts of its 75th legislature, which will be adjourned Monday by statutory limits, the state of Indiana round that:

It has a gasoline tax of four cents a gallon, instead of a three cent tax. Thus $4,000,000 more revenue is derived, presumably for state highway improvement, although much of it goes for overhead. Gasoline dealers also must pay $1 a year license fee.

The public utility finally won out in the house by getting killed a bill to put public holding companies under the same jurisdiction of the state public service commission as now is exercised over utility operating companies. Utilities may now continue their merger activities in Indiana, pyramiding paper value and rate basis valuations whenever they desire.

BRITAIN TO SPEND $275,000,000 ON NAVY NEXT YEAR

$40,000,000 Will Go for New Warships.

BY PAUL SHINKMAN,
(Chicago Tribune Free Service)

LONDON, March 8.—The British navy estimate for next year is approximately $275,000,000, of which more than $40,000,000 is to be voted for new construction, according to the white paper which was issued by the admiralty today.

The new program includes provision for starting construction of three cruisers, one battleship, eight destroyers, six submarines, one net layer and target towing vessel, and six sloops.

The fact that the admiralty is able to show $7,000,000 reduction over this year's appropriation is largely due to the cancellation of the 1927-28 Marine. Six ships are additional to the program announced in July, 1928, while the postponement of the 1928 aircraft carrier schedule of 1928 was due to a decision to obtain greater experience with the present carriers.

The cruiser Shropshire of the 12,250 program is expected to be completed in September; the Norfolk, in May, 1930; the Dorsetshire, in the summer of 1930. The cruisers York and Exeter of "Bee" will be launched next year, while two 10,000 ton cruisers ordered from the Putilov and Dvortsov docks will not be laid down before March. The first two ships of the new design are nearly completed and are highly satisfactory.

The personnel on April 1 is expected to be about 22,500, from which is expected a reduction of 1,000 during the year, making a total reduction since last April of 3,000.

Fleet Strength Is Maintained.

Commenting on the estimates, W. C. Bridgesman, first lord of the admiralty, declared, "This is a considerable reduction which is being made, although no diminution in the strength of the fleet and fleet air arm has taken place. Contrary modern development has shown the necessity of two additional flights for the latest."

WILSON COMPANY HELD NOT LIABLE TO PENSIONERS

New York, March 8.—(UPI)—Federal Judge Bondi today denied the suit of former employees of Wilson & Co., Chicago meat packers, to sue for continuation of his pension.

John Leonard, employed in the New York office of the packing company for 25 years, moved for permission to sue, saying that he had contributed 2 per cent of his wages from 1917 until he retired in 1918. He said he was paid a pension from this fund until April 12, 1928, when he received a quarterly check marked "final contribution."

Judge Bondi noted in his ruling that in 1924 Wilson & Co., faced with liabilities of $12,000,000 and a lack of liquid assets, went into the hands of equity receivers and was reorganized with new incorporation papers.

He said he was unable to direct the new corporation to assume responsibility for the pension agreement.

Mrs. Ogden Gooley Leaves All but $9,000 to Her Kids

New York, March 8.—(UPI)—Mrs. Ogden Gooley of Newark, R. I., and New York, who died Feb. 22, left all but $9,000 of her estate, worth several million dollars, to her son and daughter, Mary, duchess of Roxburghe, of Kaiso, Scotland, and Robert Gooley of Chester, N. Y., and to her son's four children. Her will was filed for probate today. Of the $8,000 in bequests $5,000 goes to Elizabeth T. Cooke of Macon, Ga., and $2,000 each to two servants.

NEW COOK COUNTY JAIL WINS PRAISE OF CRIMINOLOGISTS

Dr. George W. Kirchway, New York criminologist, praised the new county jail and criminal courts buildings yesterday at a dinner of more than 1,000 social workers in the dining room of the institution at California avenue and 26th street. He pointed out that the jail is built so that attention may be given to individual prisoners instead of only to the mass of inmates.

Dr. Kirchway said that a jail is the most important institution for offenders, because as it houses the begin-

WOLFE SAYS NEW PAVING ACT WILL SAVE 60 MILLION

URGES 700 MILES OF CITY STREETS BE REPAIRED.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Nearly 700 miles of Chicago pavements which are too old and worn to be repaired by the vehicle tax fund may be restored under special assessment proceedings if a pending bill is enacted by the state legislature. The measure, which was introduced by Representative Charles B. Marmer (Rep.) of the 19th district, would empower the city council to order resurfacing or extensive repairs for streets which would ordinarily have to be repaired at greater cost.

Council consent to the bill has been obtained by Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works, under whose direction the special assessment would be conducted.

The bill would permit the commissioners to have the work done by contractor or by the city, the city to be reimbursed by the benefited property owners. The signatures of a majority of the property owners would be sufficient to order the work.

Tells of Saving.

I am submitting this plan of restoring streets, which will cost the taxpayers at least $40,000,000 less than the existing method. Commissioner Wolfe yesterday told me that the vehicle tax ordinance restricts pairs to an area less than 15 per cent of the whole block. The proposed law will allow resurfacing to be done by special assessment. Under the present law the property owners must bear the heavier expense of having an entirely new pavement laid.

A survey made by the commissioner showed that there are 9,625,000 square yards of macadam pavement which is so worn that the repairs cannot be made from the vehicle tax fund. Under the proposed law this work can be done at a cost of $2.50 per square foot, or $24,000,000. The cost of a new pavement would be $15 a square foot, or $150,000,000. Mr. Wolfe said, so the saving might reach several millions of dollars or more.

Old Roads to be Used.

By the resurfacing plan the old road of framing a protocol it will be submitted to all governments which are members of The Hague court, and also to Washington. In the event of objections an international conference would have to be called, and this undoubtedly would coincide with the September assembly meeting.

The next council session was set for Madrid on June 15.

ROOT FORMULA FOR WORLD COURT PLEASES LEAGUE

(Chicago Tribune Free Service)

GENEVA, March 8.—Elihu Root's scheme, under which the United States and the world court may get together, made an auspicious debut before the League of Nations today. It was found basically acceptable to the council members during a secret session.

The action of the council members, several of whom had already talked over the plan with Mr. Root, came directly on the heels of Washington's official transmission of Secretary of State Kellogg's recent note to the League yesterday through Hugh R. Wilson, American minister to Bern. The committee of judicial experts who will convene Monday to examine the revision of the court's status will be officially authorized tomorrow to draft a protocol embodying Mr. Root's ideas.

When the committee finishes the work of framing a protocol it will be submitted to all governments which are members of The Hague court, and also to Washington. In the event of objections an international conference would have to be called, and this undoubtedly would coincide with the September assembly meeting.

POPULAR MOVE IN CHINA DEMANDS WAR WITH JAPAN

(Chicago Tribune Free Service)

SHANGHAI, March 8.—An organization styling itself the National Anti-Japanese Association concluded a seven day convention here today and announced a number of international resolutions, including a demand that the Chinese government immediately make preparations for war on Japan.

The convention was attended by eighty delegates, alleged to represent local anti-Japanese associations throughout the country. The meeting was held in the quarters of the Chinese general chamber of commerce, leading to the belief that the organization is receiving support from Chinese commercial and financial bodies who are using an economic boycott against Japan as a means of building up Chinese industry.

Among the resolutions adopted are recommendations urging the complete severance of Chinese-Japanese economic relations. The recommendation urges Chinese travelers upon the Pacific to use American rather than Japanese boats and recommends the establishment of newspapers in Manchuria in order to keep the anti-Japanese sentiment alive.

New Process Revolutionizes Meat Packing

Fresh Cuts, Frozen, Can Be Kept for Weeks.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

It may not be long before housewives will be able to buy fresh beef, pork, and mutton cuts of every kind frozen and wrapped in individual packages. This revolutionary change in the packing and marketing of fresh meats is feasible as a result of a rapid freezing process recently perfected in the east.

Under this process fresh meat can be graded according to quality, and weighed, packed, labeled, sealed, and frozen solid. It will keep for weeks in ordinary refrigerators and will remain frozen hard for a day or two without refrigeration.

The process, which was perfected by Clarence Birdseye of Massachusetts, makes it possible to freeze meat so quickly that it does not cause the breaking down of the muscular cells and the loss of the meat juices, as is the case under ordinary freezing.

When cooked the frozen steaks, chops, roasts and other cuts have all the marks of a freshly cut piece of unfrozen meat. The freezing has a tendency actually to improve the meat because it is made tenderer without the loss of a single good quality. The flavor, color and nutritive value are all retained, experience indicates.

Rapid Freezing Is Done.

Cuts of meat two inches thick may be frozen hard within approximately 15 minutes under the new process. This is considerably faster than freezing raw meat, which takes from 24 to 48 hours.

When it is packed in corrugated paper the meat will remain frozen for a day or two without additional refrigeration, making it possible to transport the frozen meat from Chicago to New York without the use of a refrigerator car.

Fathers Will Be Responsible.

With the new process it will be possible for the packer to continue to put back of fresh beef, pork, mutton, fish, and fowl, retaining identity until it is put into the ultimate consumer's hands. Just as it is done today in the handling of bacon, ham, shoulder, sausage, and lard. In the past it has been practical for the packer to handle cured meats under labels but in most cases fresh meat loses the identity of the packer by the time it is cut and sold by the retailer.

Experts believe that the consumer will make it possible to save enough in processing and marketing so that consumers can be given fresh meat in packages at no additional cost.

Strawberry Mousse.
The strawberry mousse may be among the daintiest and most decorative of the springtime desserts, besides being most gratifying of flavor, and there are many ways of making what may also be a rather inexpensive dessert, considering its quality.

For a simple and small strawberry mousse enough washed and peeled strawberries to make one-third cup, juice of one-half orange, one-half teaspoon lemon juice, two teaspoons gelatin, three tablespoons water, three-fourths to one cup of cream. Soak the gelatin in one tablespoon of cold water and then in two tablespoons of boiling water. Add the gelatin to the strawberries and add sugar to taste. Cook over the stove until the berries are tender, then pour over the egg white which has been beaten stiff and add the lemon juice and salt, adding, with constant beating while this is being done, and until the mixture is tepid, then add the one-third cup of strawberry juice, whipping it in. Then fold in the whipped cream and pack.

Before the cream is added we have what is really a pink boiled icing, and we may use it for that. In our minds we have what many many people might consider a small amount.

Party Yields
Gossip About
Unusual Foods

Friend Picks Up Recipes and Passes Them On.

By Jane Eddington. Those who write about foods, is rather common in life and literature—in long and short, in art and in conversation and elsewhere. The reason, I take it, is like to have me travel and write about what I find as well as to tell me they do, in that I have to make it gassy. By the way, some lovely literary things are written on gossip—if we are to defend it.

It is not exactly pleasant for me to be a food gossip. I do not like to be a person who never thinks of the other fine things in the kitchen. Nevertheless, I do not resist the temptation to get a bit out. The other day when I was in a restaurant, the person who is one of the men who knows more about food than I do, was in King Tut's tomb—literally also in the world—the Egyptologist. Some girls who were writing Africa had just the time written to me asking me for an African luncheon for them, which I could not think of any, so I had to invent some. I had not helped them then I have remembered about tea, which is poured over mint, and a few other things in Egypt. Dishes.

It is not a come and go at reception before I could make myself at home. People came up and took my source of information and I got this in their Egypt. We had the B children had particularly liked a dish which consisted of a rich rice—we agreed that this was probably cooked in milk—with eggs over it, brought up from Mexico, and mayonnaise dressing on all. That pleased "brought up" in Alexandria, piled me high with rice, though I remembered that the "piping hotness" theory is that the ancient Egyptian library—one of the greatest in the world—was used to cook with.

I would really have gone with my eyes in spite of obstacles if I had not just then been seated by the head and fed to some service men, from which unique tea refreshments were coming out to the long table at each end of which was a "piping hotness." But once there I did not notice the problem immediately. The rice was to be served with the filling for the dish and was the filling for a sandwich with meat and cheese and alluring, in the style of many charmingly dainty dishes of bread and garnishes. I had to add. It was liver sausages served with cream. Another sandwich I had at once. It consisted of a meat sandwich with a chicken sandwich filling.

One of the many delicacies in the new year served on plates, which were brought by hand, as it were, in France, and the special hand of some great gift in all matters relating to the making of a small dish of a great dish, especially in the style of service rendered by the waiter, which gratified the eye and to taste bite in refreshments to those the entertained. Oh, yes, on one of those plates we placed the fact that the devil you would be. Under the right conditions that of each a plate at a time.

Coming to Recipes. We have in a house of gentry I have not had a long time to relate. I will not give any uninteresting details. It is six months old. It was a day ago that I rode on a train to help a day with one of the women of our great state. She is a widow, though American, has the true and exact idea of food that characterizes her husband. She likes to eat with gay and decorative foods and does not put just as she likes to eat. She would be a good example of a new school. She is however, however, to the old fashioned part of interest. But she can exercise the right in the case of a company or dinner, making them unique. It was great fun for both of us—the getting of the following recipe into my notebook—because she was constantly saying, "I know you are making fun of me," and as I laughed every time she said it the recipe I got was far from finished. It was jelly to find so good a sport. It was that, certainly, if she believed I was making fun of her; instead of making fun with her, for getting the following was all that.

Boiled Fish in a Sauce.

Choose a four pound lake trout which people are to be served. Leave on head and tail (this is the European idea always recommended), wrap it in cheese cloth, boil it thirty minutes in water spiced with bay leaf, a few cloves, and salt, and serve it on a platter surrounded by a sauce.

In giving me the recipe for the sauce my songstress began by saying: "See, I do not measure; isn't it awful? But I think I take one quart of water because the boiled fish must swim in its sauce. I put in a slice of lemon, a few cloves, a bay leaf, then a teaspoonful of cornstarch with cold water, and pour it into the quart of water when it is boiling and stir while it cooks. When the liquid has thickened I strain it and add three beaten egg yolks, but I can use two eggs, which makes it creamy."

I pour this all over the fish in the platter and lay slices of lemon over the fish's back, with stripes of pimento between and some parsley, too. He might look like something else."

Rich Rice in Gumbo.

At one of the places where I sometimes drop in at luncheon time, because there you can find dishes which are above and beyond the guess work, I can get a chicken-crab gumbo served in a round soup plate which has a mound of creamy rice in the center, evidently put in after the plate has been partly filled with a rather thin red soup, in which there is shredded chicken and crab meat and about three pieces of okra always (the gumbo).

The rice is really the most delicious sort of the whole, although the lake above which it rises like a white hill blends with it so as greatly to increase its quality. Such rice cannot be said to be cooked "entière heure, goulie," style, every grain separate, and all flat of flavor, because what is native to it, though so slight, has been dissolved out.

You Can Make Your Own Table Decorations

Don't Have to Be Clever with the Needle, Either.

BY SALLY LUNN.

From a femininely psychological point of view there is some indefinable quality in household furnishings that are made or embellished by hand which renders them far more precious to the owner, as well as the maker, than the most expensive machine-made articles. Haven't you heard women exclaim at sight of another's handiwork? "And it's all done by hand!" in tones of admiration and awe?

A study of the field of table decorations discloses the many ways that women can create effective adornment for her table. Even those who claim dexterity with a needle can make things that do not require any special knack. For example, there are the most decorative artificial tree centerpieces, similar to the one illustrated on this page, that may be made with a minimum of artistic skill.

Wire is twisted into leaf-like shapes, crepe paper is pasted on, the whole is dipped in sealing wax, and one unit is complete for the ensemble, which necessitated also making a base of molten silver sealing wax, adding bead centers to the flower clusters, shaping

For the clever women who can make the leaves and petals, and twine the large stems with fine silver twine.

The whole effect approximates a product priced at retail from three to four times higher than the actual cost of the materials. The materials are inexpensive, of course, and a fairly large amount of time, but then, you can't have anything for nothing, now.

For the clever women who can make the large decorative features for her table more easily than she can accomplish the actual manual labor attending to creating them, I would suggest the type of thing wherein the effect is dependent more on the ingenuity or imagination of the creator, and the amount of work. One of the daintiest details on any of the tables at the recent flower show, on which I commented last week, was a dolly set, quite evidently hand made. Two layers of organdy had been edged with two rows of what is commonly called ric-rac braid.

The organdy was pink and the braid pink color and lavender. The braid were the regulation ribbon size, and a narrow ribbon of the same design covered the center of the table. The cushion, doves, and glass were all in the same shade.

Another table had with silver grape in turquoise blue, and edges with lavender bias tape, indicated ruffles on the part of its designer, and certainly denoted a high degree of taste.

They were silver trays, two for each place, with slightly curved up edges. The larger ones were a bright blue, and the smaller ones, which sat on top, were a tangerine orange. The napkins were blue and the glasses orange. The center piece carried out the color scheme with real roses.

Alfred Douglas to Tell the Story of Varied Life

He's Noted British Poet and Prose Writer.

BY FRANK SWINNERTON.

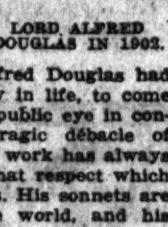

LONDON.—[Special Correspondence.]—The autobiography of Lord Alfred Douglas has been received with interest.

Following upon the publication of the collected poems of Lord Alfred (which, incidentally, received the strange honor of two distinct reviews in the Times literary supplement, as they well deserved by their beauty) comes now that the author is engaged in writing his memoirs.

What possibilities there are in this book! Lord Alfred Douglas had the misfortune, early in life, to come very much into the public eye in connection with the tragic débâcle of Oscar Wilde, but his work has always been received with that respect which great beauty compels. His connexions are far and wide over the world, and his nose, his rhyme, have long been a delight to the discerning.

His bitter prose, as it was exemplified in the pages of "The Academy" when he ran that paper with the co-operation of the late T. W. H. Crossland, has always been marked by a kind of molten fury. He has written scathing letters to the editors of newspapers which had been unjust to him; he has conducted his own case in a number of lawsuits in which feeling ran high. And now, after a life of incessant struggle and humiliation, he is writing his memoirs. They should be interesting. He has known many men of marked talents and has met them as an equal.

His acquaintance with a period of letters which still has a strange influence upon the minds of the youth of the present day—in countries other than England—is probably unsurpassed. He knows it and can write

"The Cradle of the Deep," by Joan Lowell. (Simon and Schuster.)

Literature has lately taken on a new shape. "Truth Is Stranger Than Fiction" has long been a catchword, but until writers began to tell the whole truth fiction outdistanced it in wonders. Nowadays it can be "old," whatever it is, and the person who has the strangest story to tell is the person whose story is most popular, whatever its literary appearance.

The literary appurtenances really don't matter, the cruder they are the nearer the book. Many "ghost writers," that is, writers who do autobiographies which their heroes or heroines sign, have to whittle off of their natural style all of the refinements which years of training and experience have given them and write in the way a prize fighter or a dicker, or a dope fiend, or a barge man, or a lady of the circus would write.

"The Cradle of the Deep," on its face and from internal evidence obviously did not come from the pen of a ghost writer. It is the unadorned story of one of the most amazing lives ever lived—the life of a girl who, from the age of eleven until she was seventeen, lived on a windjammer, the only child, girl, and woman in a panorama of rough men, brought up so sternly by her father, the captain, that she endured almost unheard of things without a tear or a wail, saw incredible and horrible sights without an outward tremor and was as good a sailor and a much better navigator than any of the crew. There is veracious salt in the air.

SHE'S CHILD OF THE SEA

The first six weeks of her life Joan Lowell spent at sea. The record of those years, "The Cradle of the Deep," is one of the most amazing human documents ever printed.

A simplification in the telling of this and other stories of life or mixed up both, and a record of reality which make "The Cradle of the Deep" one of the very best of the new school of adventure-autobiographies. And there is a sense of uniqueness about that which makes it one of the most compelling human interest stories of the age.

Joan Lowell may not be the only woman who was raised on a sailing ship, but there are few who:

Never saw a woman for years on end.

Were brought up by a knot of rope tied to what she calls "the back of my lap."

Could curse for four minutes without repeating themselves.

Could "spit a curve in the wind."

At six years of age calmly jumped into the ocean after a sea horse, and then mischievously swam away from the boat when a dinghy was sent out to rescue her.

Played strip poker with the crew and "lost her pants."

Helped cut up a mother shark and "learned about women from her."

Watched a native in the south seas give birth to his child.

Lived through a water-woot and saw men killed by a falling boom and washed overboard.

Joan's plain words were convincing, and she need fear the fact that the cook had put a dead cat in the soup instead of the canned beef which he was catering for himself.

Life gripped of everything except

ECHOES OF NEWER BOSTON

A week ago I was in Boston looking down onto the common and the public gardens, too, beautifully dusted with snow and feeling that a few of Joan Lowell's "wonderful words" of cuss words would come in handy when my eyes left the whitened trees and got well caught in the slush and the mud of the streets; for Boston is a paradise, and she need fear the fact that the cook had put a dead cat in the soup instead of the canned beef which he was catering for himself.

But two very nice people in the publishing business, Mr. Robert Lin-

TWENTY YEARS AGO.
In speaking of the revisions of Henry James' novels, with their new prefaces which were just coming from the press in an impressive edition, Mrs. Eliot Peattie writes: "Never in the history of literature so far as the present writer knows has there been anything comparable to Mr. James' unanticipated delight in his own sophistication. Mr. James' subtle joy in his own subtlety, or Mr. James' incoherent exuberance over his own incoherence." In those days Henry James was a disturbance. Now he is a classic.

TEN YEARS AGO.

The party marked the beginning of the third year of the Guild's activity. Since March, 1927, it has issued one book a month. It now has 75,000 subscribers.

At the first birthday party, held a year ago, the author of "The Hornet's Nest" was present. With the second party the Guild definitely had the idea to make such parties an annual event in American writing and publishing.

Among those present were Sam Hogenfels, Frieda Kirchway, Oswald Garrison Villard, Herbert Gorman, Dorothy Scarborough, Dorothy Canman, H. E. Howland, Herbert Asbury, Mary Colum, Mathewson Josephson, Isabel Patterson, Ernestine Evans, Guy Hoy, Alan Rhinehart, Ernest Boyd, Donald Ogden Stewart, Poan Lowell, Alfred Harcourt, Nelson Doubleday, Russell Doubleday, George H. Doran, Frank C. Dodd, William Rose Benét, Joseph Conrad, Mary Remond, George Shriver, Newell Hoy, Homer Crook, Charles Mervin Harry Hamilton, Edward Collins, B. W. Huebsch, Hiram Mather.

A NEW ADMINISTRATION AND A NEW WAR.

The day after President Hoover was inaugurated he decided that the Coolidge policy regulating trade in munitions of war between the United States and Mexico would be continued. Licensed armaments would be made to Mexico City on order of the Mexican government, but the embargo would stand against supplying revolutionists.

The following day it was announced in El Paso that the American government had given the Mexican government permission to move troops across United States territory from Matamoras to Juarez. American troops are in motion along the border to protect American territory.

The first acts of the new President were related to war and carried with them a measure of participation in war. In one respect Mr. Hoover virtually established a blockade for the Mexican government against its rebels. It may be doubted that the Mexican government could do that itself. It could not maintain the cordon for a blockade which other nations would be bound to respect, but the United States by using the embargo can stop the supplies of the rebelling generals for the most part and its remonstrances might prevail against munitions trade with other countries.

This is not as self-evident a participation in a war as the sending of the fleet would be, but it aims at the same end and consequently is virtually the same thing. The permission to use American territory for the transport of Mexican troops dismisses all pretense of neutrality. It again is participation in the war on the side of the Mexican government.

These two acts may easily be fatal to any hopes of success the rebels entertained. They could be decisive in nearly all cases in which the government at Mexico City was not too weak to be held up by anything short of the use of American troops in Mexico. There is nothing new in either act. There is nothing with which sensible Americans can find fault. The United States works for tranquility in Mexico and for the stability of government with which it can have friendly dealings.

Mr. Hoover had just stepped over the White House threshold when events compelled him to recognize that he had a war on his hands. The troops on the border probably will prevent it from drifting actually into American territory, but if a part of the American army were not in Texas it certainly would do so. For one thing, the discrimination against the rebels would lead to retaliation on Texas towns. Villa did that for just such a reason.

The sounds of the pacific lobbies in Washington had hardly died down with the adjournment of Congress when this happened. These lobbies were hopefully observing the inauguration and preparing for a renewal of their work under a new administration when a President not twenty-four hours in office was dealing with questions of war and was making the United States an intervening force in the war to serve necessary purposes of its own. It couldn't be avoided. The questions were there and they involved the United States.

It was the same old thing. Experience had prepared for it. The event forced it. It made foolishness of the illusions and the wishful thinking. It will not have any impressiveness or meaning for the pacificans and clerics, but the first fact of the Hoover administration was a war. It may turn out not to be a big one, and if the United States is lucky it may not have a great deal more to do with it, but there it is.

THE CHAPMAN FLEET.

Early in April the Leviathan will be delivered to a private owner under the contract by which the shipping board disposes of its fleet. Soon thereafter the ten smaller vessels, which were sold at auction, will become the property of Paul W. Chapman of Chicago and New York. In addition the Chapman interests have agreed to build two new Leviathans, and they plan to undertake a ten year program for the construction of five other ships.

Thus the United States will be represented in the marine world on a competitive scale. Foreign ship owners, who now carry 90 per cent of the American passengers, are concerned, and they have reason to be. They have the advantage of experience, reputation, and volume of equipment, but their American rival has the advantage of initiating an old enterprise on new standards.

The new ships which Mr. Chapman puts into service should be superior in the type of vessel which his foreign competitors will be compelled to operate for many years. The boats of today will be antiquated in comparison with the ships which Mr. Chapman has the opportunity to build, but the established corporations cannot afford to junk their ships to keep the new pace. For instance, shipbuilders are replacing their riveting equipment for welding construction. The internal combustion engine promises to revolutionize sea traffic. New processes of fireproof construction will be used. Experiments are producing greater depth without loss in speed. And new instruments insuring greater comfort, speed, and safety are transforming nautical transportation. Ship personnel will be decreased and economy obtained. With these attractions and with the efficiency in operation which they will bring the American marine may again make history on the sea.

REAR ADMIRAL MOFFETT.

The term of Rear Admiral William A. Moffett as chief of the bureau of aeronautics in the navy is about to expire. Admiral Moffett has headed the bureau since it came into being eight years ago. He has made American naval aviation a model for the navies of the world. He has shown imagination, executive ability, and enthusiasm for the task.

Under Moffett the development of naval aviation has not been one-sided. He has enlisted support for the construction of lighter than air machines and at the same time the bureau has played an imposing part in the improvement of land planes, sea planes, and aviation engines. In his administration the navy adopted the radial air cooled engine as a standard type, and it was naval cooperation with the commercial engine builders which led to the production of the engine with which Lindbergh and virtually all the other American distance flyers have made their records.

Despite his accomplishments, Rear Admiral Moffett may not be reappointed chief of his bureau. Washington dispatches say, because of the opposition of navy bureaucrats. The issue is to be decided by the new secretary of the navy, Charles Francis Adams. It is to be hoped that Mr. Adams decides in favor of Rear Admiral Moffett. Naval aviation is still in its formative period; Admiral Moffett has guided its development and its personnel with extraordinary success. It is certain that no other man in the service has as strong a claim, in point of accomplishment, to head the bureau. The possibility of another man's proving an able chief of the bureau is so remote that it may be dismissed, and it is almost equally improbable that another man will be found who will prove as valuable. Mr. Adams has an opportunity here to announce to the service that under his administration competence is to be the test of eligibility for appointment.

THE PUBLIC FRISKS ITSELF.

The city, as operator of its own garbage disposal plant, is a failure. During 1928 the municipal garbage plant treated its material at a cost of $6.75 a ton, an increase of $1.51 over the previous year. The net loss in 1928 was $43,504. Before the city went into the garbage disposal business in 1914 private contractors paid from $6,000 to $75,000 a year for the privilege of disposing of the city's garbage and selling the grease products.

Probably the record of Chicago in the garbage disposal business is no worse than might be expected of public operation of the same enterprise in any other city. It is an expensive example of the price the public pays in attempting to do something which private capital could do for it.

If private concerns can dispose of the garbage at a profit to themselves and at a profit to the city, there is no reason why the city should continue to take a loss on it. The disposal plant should be sold to a private company and the city should withdraw from the business.

SIR AUSTEN'S BEAN-SPILLING.

Austin Chamberlain, Great Britain's foreign minister, gave a reception to British journalists at Geneva for the meeting of the League of Nations. Some one asked him if the Kellogg pact would lead to disarmament. Sir Austen replied sarcastically, "Do you?" Then he added, "What about those fifteen American cruisers?"

Foreign ministers are not supposed to speak their minds freely. Accordingly, monologues were inserted into the record eyes all over Geneva as the story of the indiscretion was circulated. The British undersecretaries spent the rest of the evening attempting to suppress the story. It was idle to attempt to explain it in any way which would not have made the incident more embarrassing.

Probably Sir Austen was merely being true to his Tory nature. All his life he has been thinking and acting realistically in pursuit of greater power, riches, and dominion for the British empire. He has a definite taste in eggs. Asked his opinion regarding a loose one, he said it was loose by any standard he knew of judging eggs. The fact that this egg was laid and cooked in America only made its looseness more certain and none the less unpalatable.

There is another explanation of the incident. Maybe Sir Austen was deliberately indiscreet. He has only recently returned to Europe from a vacation in America, and he may have come to the conclusion while here that the Kellogg pact does not exhaust the possibilities of American idealism in a tough-minded world. He may have meant to prod us into new quizzisms, new extravagances of altruism. He may have been thinking ahead to the time when a new naval conference may be assembled, and he can hardly have been unaware of the fact that Mr. Root is also in Geneva attempting to prepare the way for America's entrance into the world court.

Editorial of the Day

THE PASSPORT NUISANCE.

(Baltimore Sun)

Prior to the war Americans had little trouble about passports. Few foreign countries required them and the others imposed but a small fee. When the war closed the bright idea originated in Washington that a big bit of revenue might be gained by putting a tax of $10 on foreigners entering this country. Immigration was then large, restrictive quotas not being in effect, and we did pick up a little money.

But the sequel turned out to be anything but pleasant to Americans traveling abroad. Being much more in need of revenue than the United States foreign countries promptly retaliated, and American visitors found themselves harassed and molested at every border. Passport fees for those visiting many countries amount to a very considerable sum, aside from the annoyance caused by the red tape in obtaining privileges of entry. It was a case of the bitter hilt. With compulsory reduction of immigration from Europe, and with the large increase of American travel to Europe, students, tourists, and business men, this country has had much the worse of the bargain.

Gradually there has been some reduction of fees and relaxation of regulations in parts of Europe, and now report comes that France is ready to make reciprocal arrangements with our government to go still farther in removing restrictions on travel. If the report is true, there should be prompt action in Washington to meet France more than half way. It is not true, vigorous effort should be made to effect such an arrangement. The United States can well afford to take the conciliatory step of reducing fees for entry into this country to a minimum in expectation that this evidence of good will and good sense and Europe's self-interest may lead it to follow suit.

WE WERE WONDERING to old Bill Wimer about why the home on Rush street are now saying, "Gimme a quarter, master," instead of the classic "Gimme a dime." But, said we thoughtfully, we guess it takes a quarter nowadays to buy anything. "You betcha life," said old Bill Wimer, "they tell me the price of earned heat went up to two-bits a glass last Monday afternoon."

Newer Junior Leaguers' Work Is Given Praise

It's always interesting to see just which of the Junior league's professional members manage to "make the grade" with the requisite amount of hours that they are expected to do to achieve actual membership.

By count, there are 22 of these

Most masculines have definite ideas of how a dwelling should be furnished, but few of them ever have an opportunity to see some of the choice furnished homes as James Keeley has in his new suite at the Ambassador. Gently but firmly refusing all professional advice or aid in the matter of decorating and furnishing his abode, he has done the whole job himself, deriving from the process an enormous amount of enjoyment, and creating a decidedly interesting and effective interior, according to his account, which he has viewed the results of his labors. The effect is, according to his own say-so, neither antique nor modern, just Keeleyan. Walls were knocked down, arches put in, wall paper selected, the kitchen accoutered, lighting designed, all to Mr. Keeley's personal specifications. The hallway is papered in Tony Sarg paper and the

THOMAS TIES U. S.

SPRINT MARK IN BIG TEN TRIALS

Ohio Qualify Eleven for Finals.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL
Chicago Tribune Press Service
Iowa City, Ia., March 8.—Judd of Illinois, breaking the Big Ten mark in the 60 yard dash, gave the Cubs and Blue a flying start in the annual indoor track and field championship preliminaries in the University of Iowa field house yesterday.

Thomas, also time winner of the sprint, made a quiet, qualified start in the five trials. Indiana and Iowa placed sixth, Ohio State and Michigan each will be represented in the conference.

Every member of the conference placed men in the final, but Indiana was the only one that Illinois' well balanced team will romp away with the honors.

Team New U. S. Record.

One of the best has backs in the country, won his heat in the 60 yard dash in 6.1-5. This performance assured the Big Ten mark of 6.0 made by George Simpson of Ohio State last year. It also ties the existing indoor record held by L.
Johnson of the Illinois A. C., Francis of Newark Academy, Bowman of the Newark A. C., and Quinn of Italy Creek. The Orange and Blue will always a fast starter, of the mark faultlessly led the team to the tape by a wide margin.

The Orange and Blue flew in with a strong strike with George Simpson of Ohio State in the final tomorrow night.
Indiana is the mark made tonight if they will be broken if both get an eve break at the start. Both Timm and Illinois are in splendid condition and the odds are in their favor.

The conference indoor record of 6.18 for the 70 yard high hurdles was set three times. Hayden of Chicago, Clegg of Ohio State, and Allison of Iowa each won their qualifying heat in record time.

White of Illinois, Gorby of Northwestern, and Gunn and Moulton of Iowa won their way into the finals of the half mile. Moulton registered the best performance by stepping the distance in 1:09.410. Sanders of Illinois and Dill of Indiana also ran splendidly to go into the final tomorrow

Team Best Time: Eliminated.

Assumption of Indiana and Tarilli of Michigan won their semi-final heats in a quarter mile. Six preliminary heat were held and Henke of Wisconsin made the best time. He won in 51.4-10, but finished third in the first semi-final heat.

Team of Chicago was the first qualifying in the one-mile run in 4:20.5-10.
Team of Illinois' third, and
Team of the same placed third.

Team of Minnesota took the second place in 4:20.3-10. Martin of Purdue was second, and Abbott of Illinois third.

George Laird of Iowa, 440 yard indoor track and field champion, has been brought out of competition with a pulled muscle. The injury has weakened the team. The Hawkeyes will have to be in the pole vault and Forward Roberts in the shot put. Carr will have hope in the high jump. He has a year ago.

The finals will be held tomorrow starting at 7:30 o'clock. The finals in each event will be in the scoring. Summaries:

R. R. EQUIPMENT
OUTLOOK GOOD
AFTER BAD YEARLamont Optimistic
as He Retires.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Although last year was a lean year for the railroad equipment industry, prospects for this year are much brighter. This is set forth in the annual report of R. P. Lamont, who has just retired as president of the American Steel Foundries to become a study of commerce.

The present decline in railroad buying, started with $40,000, has gone into the $340,000 in the middle, could have made it sufficient in the lead.

The next high, doubles, drops to $33 after rolling, first and second.

In the single, the 6 p.m. squad, him into second, ran a 245-second, the shock he had then come back effort.

Five men team, car down. The Total Net Tonnage.

The total net tonnage shipped last year was 450,584, compared with 450,584 in 1927. Net profits for 1928 were $5,556,972, equivalent after preferred dividends to $3.01 a share on 1,828 shares of no par common stock.

Dividends totaling $3 a share were paid on the common stock. As the result of a loss of $642,500 from investment and a premium of $20,000 on 22,120 shares of preferred stock not retained, the net surplus was reduced by $848,417 to $12,960,421.

For 1927 were $4,076,092, equivalent to $3.84 a share on the common stock.

High Rates for Switching Are Business Peril

BY SCRUTATOR.

Severe economic disturbances in Chicago as the railroads pursue the interstate commerce commission allow them proposed increases in switching rates are forecast in a brief just filed with the commission by counsel for the shippers.

The present rates cover a territory embracing the city of Chicago, a small part of northern Indiana, railroads as far west as La Grange, Franklin Park and Bellwood, and as far north as the Grayslake avenue station in Evanston, the whole known as the switching district.

Under the rate structure every manufacturing firm in this district, if it has a siding, is equal in its local shipments with the other firms. A carload of 66,000 pounds minimum will be moved over one or two roads for 50 cents a ton, and over three lines, if necessary, for 60 cents a ton. The railroads have asked for each line of rates to be increased by 10 per cent.

The shippers estimate that the increase, based on a one month study of traffic, would be 10 per cent on one line hauls, 99 per cent on two line and 22 per cent on three line hauls.

Advance Arguments.

The additional revenue to the railroads provided by the traffic remained as it is, would be three million dollars a year more. But one of the arguments advanced by the shippers is that this will not happen—that the increase will shift some traffic to trucks and waterways and destroy a great deal more.

Another result will be the concentration of the railroads in the more advanced areas, where the traffic has been under the present rates to establish them near Gary or in South Chicago, the rim of the district. For these firms, which are mostly the growth of the last seventeen years, rates could easily be made more than "the traffic will bear." They might have to relocate their plants.

Disruption of business in such wholesale fashion should not be permitted by the commission on any such determination that exists in this case.

As the end of the year the company had outstanding in the call loan market $4,583,920. Current assets are carried in the balance sheet at $7,497,300, while current liabilities are shown as $340,106, leaving a net working capital of $7,157,193.

The last year has been an important period in the history of the company, according to C. M. Keys, president, in his report to stockholders, being marked by a distinct change of policy.

Prior to 1928 the entire policy of the company aimed at the elimination of debt and other charges and the building up of a strong position in current resources, looking toward a possible period of great expansion in the near future.

The process of retiring all prior obligations was completed in the early part of the last year through the retirement of the preferred stock issue of 25,231 shares, the funds being provided by the issuance of $2,668 shares of stock at $50 a share, practically all of which was subscribed by common stockholders pro rata. This left outstanding as of May 10, 1928, 290,746 shares of common stock and no other form of indebtedness.

NEW YORK CURB

MARKET PRICES BECOME FIRMER

Standard Oil (Ind.) Re-covers 1 1/2 Points.

(New York curb list page 26.)

Chicago Tribune Free Service.
New York, Mar. 8.—Prices were considerably firmer on the curb exchange today despite the unexpected large increase in brokers' loans. Gains of from 1 to 4 points were made in a large number of the oil stocks, and issues which had the benefit of special bullish news advanced from 1 to as much as 3 points. The trend in the last hour appeared to be towards higher ground, although there were plenty of exceptions to the rule. Total sales were 1,425,000 shares.

Plenty of News.

The drop in the call money rate to 3 per cent may have favorably affected the list, but the oils also had plenty of special news behind them in their advance. The Rockefeller victory over Stewart and the fine earnings statement of Continental, together with reports of mergers and striking of a new gusher in California, were more than enough news to precipitate heavy buying.

Standard Oil of Indiana was actively traded in and had a net advance of 1/4 points. Continental Oil, in which sales were more than 115,000 shares, moved up more than 3 points to 104. It sold out, but had no gain of 3%. Humble Oil 4, Imperial Oil of Canada 1, and Texas and Land 1. Nearly all the others had fractional gains.

Some advances among the specialties were made by Silica Gel, up 3 points; Gold Seal, Electric, 1 1/2; Castrol company, 10, and Sage T. State, 5 1/4.

Heavy Turnover.

Anaconda Copper rights were turned over in huge blocks, but the net movement was slight. There was a reversal of profit taking in some of the higher priced copper shares—Newmont especially. It broke sharply at one stage, but recovered in the last hour.

Among the utilities Electric Bond and Share now and the old company stock displayed a heavier tone, with the American Superpower A, United Gas Improvement, American Light and Traction, and American Foreign Power warrants weak.

Stock of the newly formed Aviation Corporation, an investment company, was listed and immediately became the most above the public offering price. Its net movement was negligible, however.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST.

The official forecast of winds and temperatures and yesterday's table of records follow. Indiana—Partly to mostly fair; in north: unseasonably fair; in south portion fair; day: cooler; Sunday generally fair; rising temperature in the afternoon. Ohio—Cloudy and cooler; probably starts raining to some extent in south portion; much colder Saturday night; Sunday fair with rising temperature in afternoon. Lower Michigan—Partly cloudy Saturday, possibly snow flurry in morning in west and extreme north portion; cold Sunday. Indiana—Partly fair, with rising temperature in afternoon. Upper Michigan—Partly cloudy Saturday, colder in east and south portions; Sunday generally fair with rain in afternoon. Wisconsin—Fair and probably sunny; cold in east and south portions Sunday, rising temperature Sunday. Minnesota—Generally fair in north, unseasonably fair in south portion Saturday; with possibly rain in extreme south portion; colder; Sunday generally fair, with rising temperature.

WHEAT MARKET IRREGULAR; CORN CLOSES HIGHER

mand Elevates Oats.

BY CHARLES MICHAEL.

Wheat market fluctuated erratically yesterday within a range of around 1 cent, the finish being at intermediate figures, with no loss of 1/4 of a cent. March closing at $1.21 1/2, and July at $1.20 1/4. June and July at $1.23 1/2.

Corn showed a firm undertone and was 1/4 of a cent higher at the last. March closing at 36 1/2 and May at 36 3/4 cents, while oats were 3/4 of a cent higher on a continuation of the active shipping demand so much in evidence of late, with March lead.

The latest finished at 44 1/4 and May and July at 44 1/2 cents. Rye was 1/4 of a cent lower, with March at 41 1/4 and May at 41 1/2 cents.

There was little disposition shown on the part of wheat traders to get far from shore, due to the government report on farm reserves to be issued after the close. A decline of 1/4 of a cent in Liverpool, due to Argentine exports of 10,000,000 bu. or 3,717,000 bu more than the previous week, and on enlarged estimates on the exportable surplus, had some effect here, but there was buying by houses and foreign and eastern connections and a rally to above Friday's level followed by the advance last night of local selling and little buying from the mid-west and southwest, although the latter was a buyer at times.

Crop Reports Mixed.

Crop comments on the new winter wheat were mixed, with few scattered claims of dryness. The former, for colder weather over the belt, attracted attention, as did the prospect of the latter becoming a major market influence until definite information is received as to what form the legislation will take. Cash interests bought May and sold July wheat at 2 1/2 to 3 cents difference, changing over hedges. Export demand at the seashore was again slow, with sales of 300,000 bu wheat in all positions, including 240,000 bu to the Swiss government.

Winnipeg closed 4 1/2 cents lower, while Buenos Aires was unchanged to 36 1/4 cents. Argentine exportable surplus is estimated by Brown's agents at 251,000,000 bu, including a carryover of 13,000,000 bu from the old crop, and compares with actual clearances of 302,000,000 bu the previous year. American interests long 3,000,000 to 4,000,000 bu to May wheat in Liverpool, according to Brothman.

Less Pressure on Corn.

Traders were inclined to look for a bullish government report on farm reserves of corn, and there was a noticeable lack of selling pressure. Local bulls were on the buying side and made much of the steady decline in futures, and the decline in winter shipping demand. The country took advantage of the firmness in futures to sell 100,000 bu to some here from Kansas City. Cash interests bought May and sold July, changing over hedges. The Romanian corn crop has been revised upward and is now 107,000,000 bu, or 20,000,000 bu less than the estimated home requirements, and cables told of farmers feeding wheat and barley due to the dearth of corn. Buenos Aires closed unchanged.

Open interest in March oats is decidedly small and the future is easily influenced by any good buying or selling. Cash and commission houses were on the buying side, and there was buying of May against sales of July credited to the east. The country sold September, which showed the best advance.

Rye was dull and the market somewhat easier, in sympathy with wheat. The March delivery is easily influenced and the open interest small.

Sensational Break in Hogs

Weeks of Product

A break of $60 at $1.00 in hogs at the Chicago stockyards was sensational and expected to curtail shipments of hogs from the country. It is not likely to create a friendly feeling on the part of the farmers and country shippers towards the packers despite the fact that hog prices have had an upward trend of 10 cents a week.

Meat sales by holders of lard and meats weakened values for those products despite good buying at lard credits to packers.

At the last end was 2 1/4 lower on March and 7 1/2 cents lower on other deliveries. Most of the new business is going into July and September. Delivers were 400,000 lbs. Liverpool was higher on spot lard and 1 1/2 cents higher on futures. Exports were 660,000 a week.

A fair trade was on in bellies, with the close 15 1/2 cents lower. Cash trade in lard and meats was fair.

Hog receipts in the west were smaller than a week and a year ago. Prices follow:

SECOND MORTGAGE LOANS

President Hoover has always been a thinking man, as well as a doing man.

Mr. Hoover said to Mr. Roosevelt: "It seems to me that the rates charged on second mortgages leave a lot to be desired."

Mr. Roosevelt is a thinking man, as well as a doing man.

Mr. Roosevelt had some conversation with Mr. Walling, President of the Chicago Morris Plan Bank, on which he suggested to Mr. Walling that the rates were quite high.

It would be a Chicago Morris Plan Bank help to work out the problem and to make the rates more reasonable.

There is no institution in this city more representative of the standing of the intimate family work.

There is no institution in this city which takes greater delight in helping people to get ahead.

Consequently, it gave Mr. Walling the idea of getting the Chicago Morris Plan Bank great delight in endeavoring to prove President Hoover's contention that the second mortgage rates were too high.

So that is the way we happened to be interested in second mortgages.

For Mr. Roosevelt placed at the direction of the Chicago Morris Plan Bank a fund of $1,000,000, to be used in making second mortgages which we charged were from 10% to 15% lower than the rates charged by other banks in Chicago, but we found that the rates could be reduced even further.

Consequently, we have three times. Today they are paying 8% interest and interest is 2% less.

It is obvious that any thoughtful, shrewd home owner in this community will find our plan well considered and particularly constructed.

It is also evident that we are unquestionably the lowest rates in Chicago.

We will be delighted to have you see our program more in detail.

The relationship of the Chicago Morris Plan Bank to this project is expressed in the fact that the assets of the bank itself are involved.

General Critic
Is Taft's

BY PHILIP L.

Chicago Tribune
Washington, D.C.

—In selecting the national law enforcement which is to implement the new laws as a vital part of his program, President Hoover has chosen the same method as in picking his cabinet.

Perhaps he will be successful in finding out the affiliations of the men he was in his cabinet, as he evidently did with Secretary Robert P. La Follette, director of the American Anti-Saloon League which Mr. La Follette was in a hurry.

The President's method of naming suggested to him in mind, classify and then investigate on each one. It probably took him a month before he announced his cabinet, for there are 16 members.

As a type of what he is known that he has chosen the name of Judge of St. Paul associate supreme court of Minnesota of various crime protection. Frank J. Lane is expected to come into this search.

The various influences brought to bear on Mr. Hoover's selection will be in this search. His main task is to get men of the right type to fill one of them up to the mark of publicity and substance of work and worry for him.

In the broadening of the commission's work by the President in his speech to the nation, the influence of William H. Taft is prominent. Taft's views on the functions of the commission in the machine politics have been adopted by the President.

Prohibition Phase. He has emphasized investigation more and action and a subversive feature. The commission's powers will prevent them but the Volstead act is still unenforceable.

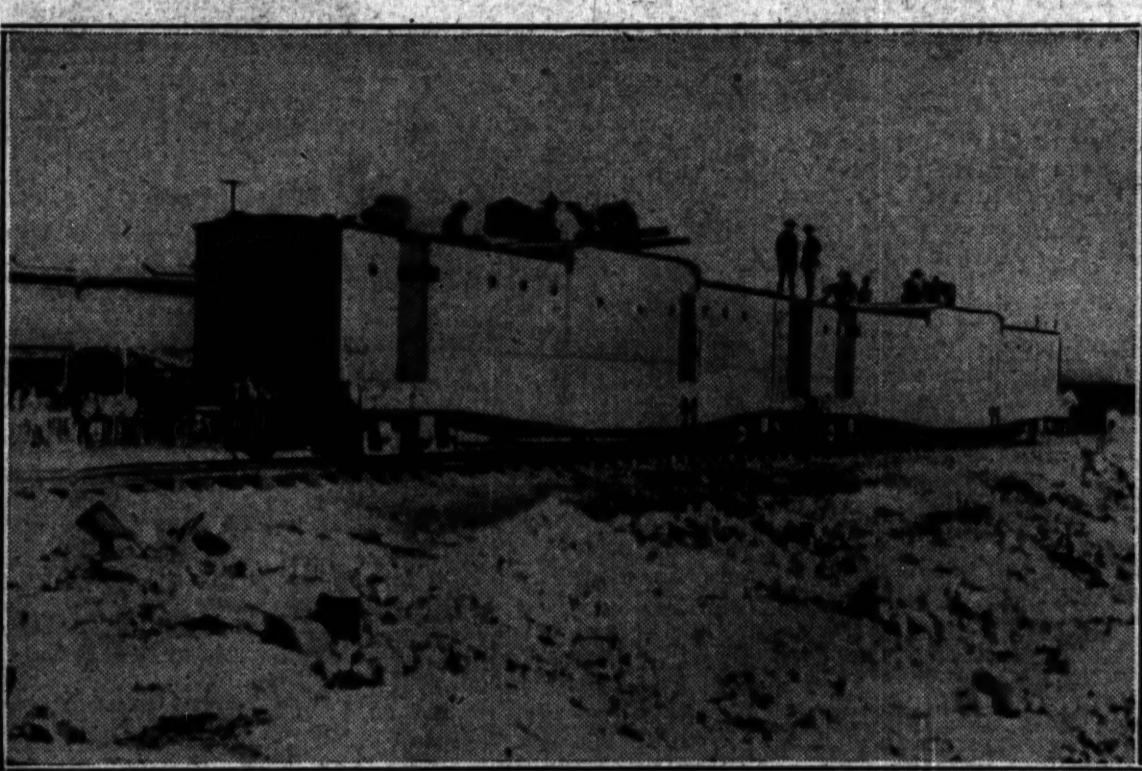

His specific instructions for by wet laws is reported to be prepared. A woman will probably be on the commission, and it is expected to be a woman.

Mr. Taft's influence is seen not only in the cabinet but in the making of the chief administrative members of the Supreme Court. He is to be appointed by Mr. Taft, as attorney general, he was forced to pass over Col. William J. Donovan, who was Mr. Donovan's personal influence. The President found a heavy dry leaning in the Senate. Henry L. Stimson, Mr. Hoover with the Senate was secretary of his cabinet.

Political Loyalty. In looking over the list of other cabinet members, it will be seen that organization has little weight with the politicians. The politicians trot out a variety of candidates, but find any, unless it is a close family, who is the official family, probably his own son, is holding this appointment. He is a man around the capital, a man of friends, a man before the nation who Robert Wood is reported to be the front for him. Mr. Good, however, has no connections of his own to him for this job. He is confirmed for four years in this connection and is expected to guide the hearings with congressional members of the law enforcement bureau and his department of waterways.
